Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE,
Fairfax Court-House, Va.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. February 24

For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland: one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek, containing three hundred and forty acres, about 16 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland, for more than twenty miles up and down the river: located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.

A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chesnut; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high stiff soil, similar to the one above mentioned.

A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of maburing the farm with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for holding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.

A Tract, lying about 14 miles from the last mentioned, containing 236 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.

If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.

Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 7, 1819.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

The anniversary of the Birth-day of our political existence, happening on Sunday, this year, no preparations were made for celebrating it in this place, in the usual way, and it has consequently passed away without any parade or bustle; all that occurred on Monday, in commemoration of the event, was, a meeting of the Washington Society, to transact ordinary business, and a turn out of the Rifle Company.

At an election held on Monday last for Directors of the Franklin Bank of Alexandria, the following gentlemen were chosen:

William T. Swann,
John T. Ricketts,
Gen. Thomson Mason,
George Chapman,
Amos Alexander,
Charles I. Love,
Wm. H. Hampton,
Wm. B. Alexander,
James English,
Thomas Swann, jun.
John Love,
Wm. N. Mills.

At a meeting of the Directors on Tuesday morning, William T. Swann was re-chosen president, and Charles Chapin elected cashier.

COASTING TRADE.

On Thursday the 1st instant, went into operation, the Law, passed at the late Session of Congress, for the benefit of those engaged in the coasting trade, by relieving it from some of its inconveniences. By this law, the sea coast of the United States is divided into two great districts, the first including all the coast and navigable rivers, from the river St. Croix, which separates the District of Maine from Brunswick, to the river St. Mary's, which divides Georgia from Florida; the second including the coast, &c. between the river Perdido, and the river Sabine, the western boundary of Louisiana. Within the limits of either of these two districts, every vessel of twenty tons or upwards, licensed for the coasting trade, may henceforth carry on trade, without being obliged to clear or enter at the custom houses, provided she has not on board certain excepted articles of foreign merchandize, above a specified amount or value. For further particulars, those interested are advised to consult the provisions of the Act itself, passed 2d March last, which may be found in the Official Edition of the Laws, or on the files of the National Intelligencer, and of other papers authorised to publish the Laws of the United States. Extract to the Editor of the Baltimore Patriot—dated St. Inigoes, Md. June 26.

A most horrid transaction has taken place 8 or 10 miles above this. On Thursday the 17th inst. the body of a dead man was found in a branch, near James Milburn's; a coroner's inquest was held over the body, which had so much putrified, that it was impossible to tell whether he was murdered or not. But since, it appears that the murder was pretty certain. Stephen Milburn, of St. George's, started a few weeks ago for Baltimore, with a view to speculate in the article of tobacco, and it seems, took with him between four and five thousand dollars, which it appears has occasioned him to lose his life.—News arriving here a few days ago of his not reaching Baltimore, it was strongly conjectured that he was the person found dead. A part of the clothing being taken to his wife, was identified by her to be his, who, from strong circumstances, was murdered by his nephew, Wm. Milburn, who has made his escape with the money. James Milburn, brother of William, has been arrested and sent to jail, supposed to have been concerned in the murder of his uncle, which time alone will determine. These lines are wrote in haste, but contain truth.

MELANCHOLY.

Mr. Lyman Sperry, of Malone, Franklin co. having been absent from his house on Friday afternoon last, returned home in the evening, and found his wife, and four children, in a most deplorable condition—some of them just able to be about the house, while others were lying on the bed, &c. in a somberous, sickly, and wretched state. He endeavored to arouse them, hoping to administer relief, but in a short time one child expired in his arms. Shortly after, his wife died, and in a little while, another child breathed its last. He procured medical aid as soon as possible, and by their active exertions, the other two children were saved from immediate death though it remains doubtful whether they will recover. The eldest child that died was about 5 years of age. Those who survived were from 7 to 10. From what the surviving children say, it is supposed that Mrs. Sperry, who has been for two or three years, by turns, a little deranged, gathered Cicuta, or, as some call it, wood-chuck root, steeped it in warm water, and fed to her children, and drank plentifully of it herself, with a view of saving them and herself (in the embraces of death) from penury and want, which she had frequently insisted was coming upon them, although it is understood that Mr. Sperry is in good circumstances.

SENTIMENTS OF AN OLD SOLDIER.

Extract from Wilkinson's Memoirs.

Let those parents who are now training their children for the military profession, let those misguided parents, who are inculcating principles of education subversive of the foundations of the republic, look on this picture of distress, taken from the life of a youth in a strange land, far removed from friends and relations, co-mingled with the dying and the dead, himself wounded, helpless and expiring with agony; and then should political considerations fail of effect, I hope the feelings of affection, and the obligations of humanity, may induce them to discountenance the pursuits of war, and save their offspring from the seductions of the plume and the sword, for the more solid and useful avocations of civil life; by which alone, peace and virtue, and the republic, can be preserved, and perpetuated. A dupe, during my whole life, to the prejudices I now reprobate, I speak from experience, and discharge a conscientious duty, when I warn my country against military enthusiasm, and the pride of arms; and against the arts and intrigues by which the yeomanry, the palladium of the republic, are deprecated, and standing armies and navies are encouraged.—For what would it avail the citizens of the United States, if, in a political frenzy, they should barter their rights and liberties for national renown? And who would exchange the blessings of freedom for the repute of having eclipsed the whole human race in feats of valor and deeds of arms? This is a serious question. It affects the vital interests of every freeman; and the course of the government makes it proper and necessary that the citizens of these states should pause and reflect before it be too late. We have escaped from one war with a crippled constitution—the next will probably destroy it; therefore, let the motto of the state be PEACE.—

In the afternoon of Thursday last, Three Rainbows, at the same time, were distinctly seen in this vicinity. This is a rare phenomenon. A similar appearance was observed by Dr. Halley, at Chester, (Eng.) in 1698. Two of the rainbows, in that instance, corresponded to the ordinary appearance of two rainbows, the colours in the secondary being in a reverse order in relation to those in the primary rainbow.—The colors in the third were arranged as in the first. In the three rainbows of Thursday last, the colours, if we are correctly informed, were in the same order in each. We understand that this phenomenon was observed by Professor Farrar, at Cambridge, from whom we may hope for a correct account of this interesting exhibition, with a satisfactory solution. In the 83d volume of the Transactions of the Royal Society, there is a relation of two primary rainbows seen at the same time, in July, 1792, by the Rev. Dr. Sturges, near Gosport, in England. These rainbows were not concentric, but touching each other, and there was a secondary bow to each.—Mr. Sturges suggests in explanation of the phenomenon, that one of the bows was probably produced by reflection of the sun from the sea. We have just received our files of London papers to the 18th May.

Cottons, and other American articles were increasing in demand, and their prices were raising.

The political world remained in statu quo.

On the 18th May, Mr. Tierney made his long promised motion for the censure of ministers. On the division, the numbers were, for Tierney's motion 178; against it 357; giving the ministry the triumpant majority of more than two to one.

FROM ENGLAND.

The Thomas Fowler, capt Berry, arrived at this port yesterday, in 33 days from Liverpool—sailed May 22d. Our file of London papers to May 16th has been received, but furnishes nothing of an important character.

Accounts have been received at London from Cadiz to 27th April. An order had unexpectedly reached Cadiz, directing that the soldiers who had been embarked for South America should be disembarked. It was affirmed that this was in consequence of the arrival of dispatches by the Sabina.

The Gazette de France in contradiction of a report circulated by speculators that the vintage had been destroyed by frost says "the fact is, the vines have not suffered, and every thing promises one of the finest years that France has ever seen."

HYDROPHOBIA.

In compliance with the request of several persons, the subscribers have been induced to lay before the public a brief statement of the case of Hydrophobia which occurred in Southwark, a few days since. The unfortunate subject of the disease was Miss Eliza Frame, aged about 19 years, who resided in Second street, near Catharine. It appeared from the information given by the young woman herself, and confirmed by others, that she had been bitten about four weeks before, by a small grey dog, on the inside of the middle finger of the left hand. The wound was contracted while the patient had been in the act of driving the dog out of the room in which she was sitting. A friend proposed to send for medical assistance, but this she declined, from the apparently trifling nature of the accident, and avowed belief that the dog was not mad. In a short time, however, the animal discovered a very vicious disposition by biting several other persons, and it was conceived necessary to destroy him.

This was accordingly done, without its being further determined whether he was really rabid or not, he as far as we were able to ascertain, not having been seen, or examined by any one possessed of competent knowledge to decide. The melancholy event, however, of the wound received from him by Miss Frame, sufficiently, in our estimation at least, denotes the dreadful malady with which she must have been afflicted. We were told that the wound bled freely, was somewhat painful the first day, but soon healed.

In twenty-seven days after, Eliza began to complain of pain in the right side, and of being frequently chilly. On the second day of her indisposition, her side became easy, but a more severe pain seized the left elbow, which was soon extended down to the hand, and upwards to the shoulder. Early in the morning of the third day she proceeded according to her usual custom, to wash herself, and while attempting to apply the cool water to her face, she involuntarily started back, and suffered a pretty severe attack of a spasmodic affection. A sense of suffocation attended this attack, and her sufferings were such as to oblige her to desist from what she was doing, nor was she at any other time during the day, able to make any further application of the water to her face. In the course of the day, she sustained repeated attacks of spasm, produced by other exciting causes, always referring her chief uneasiness to the breast, stomach, and the upper part of the throat. In the night following, she experienced a paroxysm of the spasms, more alarming than any had occurred before, impressing for the first time, both the patient and the lady with whom she resided, with an apprehension of her case being dangerous.

At six o'clock in the morning of the 4th day, the symptoms with which she had been before affected were now presented in an aggravated form. The pulse was tense, and frequent, the causes capable of exciting the spasms, and the attending sense of suffocation had been multiplied. A mere draught of air from a door was at this time sufficient to induce them, and every attempt to swallow liquids was not only impracticable, but certain to occasion great anguish. At half past nine o'clock, A. M. the pulse was 130 a minute, and her distress arising out of the frequent occurrence of the spasms, and the danger of suffocation was very great. Her thirst was insatiable, and she was frequently making efforts to discharge from the mouth and throat, a frothy saliva, which was of so viscid a nature, that she was often under the necessity of detaching it with her finger.

The nervous system was excitable to so great a degree, that any sudden movement in the room, such as the opening or shutting the door, the undulation of the water used by the person engaged in cupping her, although she did not see it, the flame produced by burning the pieces of paper employed by the cupper, and many other causes which under other circumstances, would be equally trifling, were remarked at different times to precipitate this unhappy girl into convulsions, exhibiting that kind of poignant suffering, which perhaps may be more easily conceived of, than expressed by language. Her intense thirst has been referred to; it may be useful, on some other occasion, to remark that a temporary alleviation of that sensation was obtained by applying to her mouth and lips some lime juice.

In the intervals of her paroxysms the mind became a little composed, and she was several times capable of speaking collected. We were of opinion that this occasional mental composure, was in part to be attributed to our having very carefully kept from her knowledge the nature of her complaint. In one or two instances, when the bite she had received was adverted to within her hearing, she manifested but little present concern about it, and enquired whether there could be any danger of her becoming mad, in consequence of it.—That the tendency of the wound she had received had occupied very little of her attention or her fears was rendered more fully evident by the fact of her having forgot when her case was first under investigation, that she had been bitten by a dog.—When she was asked if such had been the case, she replied in the negative. There was much local irritation about the neck and throat; pressure even of a light kind made with the fingers on the upper conical vertebræ was frequently observed to produce spasms, and a sense of stifling, or difficulty of getting the breath. This symtom, it is conceived, is accounted for by what is stated in the last passage of this communication.

At 11 o'clock A. M. the pulse became weak and tremulous, and in a few minutes ceased at the wrists, her voice was next observed to fail her, and she expired at half past 11. To the medical profession it may be interesting to state, that the treatment consisted of two bleedings, one of ten, and the other of thirty ounces, and a cupping along the course of the spine.

In the examination of the body after death, the spinal marrow was found inflamed.

PLEASANT ART OF MONEY CATCHING.

A few days since, we published some general account of an ancient little book, bearing the above named title. In giving the list of the chapters, it will be recollected that the following was the subject of the seventh—

"How a man may always keep money in his pocket."

In such times as these, when it is extremely difficult for a man instead of keeping money in his pocket at all times, to keep it at any time, it may not be unamusing for our readers to be made acquainted with the author's notions regarding this point. For that purpose we give them the following extracts from the chapter.

"He that would always keep money in his pocket, must first be a person industrious to get it, and secondly careful to keep it, and thirdly, cautious in spending it.

1. He must be industrious to get it; and must make hay while the sun shines, saw while the wind blows fair, and follow the current while the stream runs strong; for if fortune be followed as the first falls out, the rest will follow; money is a coy mistress, and is not to be won without much courting; that is, not without labour and industry: And without diligence in acquiring it, it is impossible to keep a penny in thy pocket; and this the sacred oracles abundantly inform us, by telling us it is the Diligent hand that maketh rich: and assuring us, that the Slothful soul shall suffer hunger. Yea, Solomon (a man so famed for wisdom that he never had his equal) gives such a high encomium to diligence that he asks,—"Seest thou a man diligent in his business? He shall stand before Kings, he shall not stand before mean men—He is not a talking man, but, a doing man, and knows that in all labour there is profit, but the talk of the lips tendeth only to penury."

As he must be diligent and industrious to get it, so, secondly, he must also be careful to keep it; for if a man be never so industrious in getting money, yet if he be'nt careful in keeping it, all that he does will be to no more purpose than Margery Good cow's giving a good meal of milk, and afterwards kicking it down with her heels. But I need say the less upon this head, because it is not easy to imagine, that he that has been diligent in getting money, should be careless in keeping it; for unless it be your common sailors, there's few that are guilty here. The contrary evil is more prevalent amongst us, I mean of persons that have been very diligent in amassing up of treasure together; which when they have got, they are so careful to keep, that they have not an heart to lay it out about their necessary occasions; and know no other use of money but only the having it.

There are men that carry no money in their pockets, for fear they should lose it; but their chests are cramm'd with it. Aristotle pronounced the prodigal spendthrift a greater benefactor to his country, than the griping miser, because every trade and vocation fared the better for him—as the tailor, haberdasher, vintner, shoemaker, hostler, &c.

The covetous person is acquainted with none of these: for instead of satin, he suits himself with sacking, he trembles as he passes by a tavern door, to see a reckoning of eight shillings sent up into the half moon, for wine, oysters, and faggots: for his own natural drink (you must know) is between that the frogs drink, and a kind of pitiful small beer, too bad to be drank, and somewhat too good to drive a water-mill. The haberdasher gets as little by him as he did by a gentleman of Suffolk, who, when he had worn a hat eight and thirty years, would have petitioned the parliament against the haberdashers for abusing the country in making their wares so slight. For the shoemaker, he hath as little to do with him, as ever Tom Coryat had. For sempsters, perhaps he may love their faces better than their fashions; For plays, if he read but their titles upon a post, he hath enough. Ordinaries he knows none save one of three pence in Black Horse alley, and such places. For tapsters and hostlers they hate him as Belial, as not seeing a mote in his cup once in seven years.

Arguments to keep money—All people complain generally (as I have already said) of the count of money, which like an epidemical disease hath overrun the whole land; the city bath little trading, country farmers complain of their rents yearly raised by their landlords, and yet can find no utterance for their commodities, or must sell them at under rates. Scholars without money get neither patrons nor preferment, mechanic arts no work, and the like of other professions. One very well compared worldly wealth unto a foot ball, some few nimble heeled and light headed run quite away with it, when the most are lookers on, and cannot get a kick at it in all their lives. Therefore keep thy money.

For, go but among the usurers in Moorfields, and see if you can borrow an hundred pounds of any of them without a treble security, with the use one way or other doubled. A pleasant fellow came not long since to one of them, and desired him that he would lend him fifty pounds: quoth the usurer, my friend, I know ye not: for that reason only, said the man, I would borrow of you, for if you knew me, I am sure you would not lend me a penny.

If you happen to be sick, if your purse hath been lately purged, the doctor is not at leisure to visit you; yea, hardly your neighbors and familiar friends; but unto monied and rich men they fly as bees to the willow palms; and many times, they have the judgment of so many, that the sick is in more danger of them, than his disease.

A good and painful scholar, having lately taken his orders, shall be hardly able to open a church door without a golden key, when he should ring his bells.

Have but an ordinary suit in law, let your cause or case be never so plain, or just, if you want therewith to maintain it, and as it were ever and anon to water it at the root, it will quickly wither and die.

The remainder is postponed to a future opportunity.

For Sale,

TWO tracts of valuable land in Durham Parish, Charles County, Maryland opposite Nanjemoy Reach—one of these tracts of land is bounded on one side by the Potomac, has a valuable fishery, and contains about 360 acres of bottom, with a quantity of wood that ought to be cut.—The other is about three-fourths of a mile from the river, from one half to two thirds covered with wood and valuable white-oak timber, and contains about 700 acres. Both tracts have an orchard of choice fruit. The above land will be sold at Charles County Court, on THURSDAY in the third week of August next at Public sale, if not sold before, at private sale.—The terms will be made known at the sale. Timber or wood may be purchased any time previous to the sale.

SALES AT AUCTION.

For Sale.

BY virtue of a decree of the honorable court of Prince George's county, sitting as a court of equity, for the sale of the real estate of William Taylor, will be offered at public sale, on the premises, on the 12th day of July, a part of a TRACT OF LAND, called the Widow's Trouble, containing about 184 acres, situated in Prince George's county, in the neighborhood of Piscataway. Terms and conditions of the sale are three equal annual payments, secured by bond and good security, with interest from the day of sale, and upon the payment of the whole purchase money and not before, the trustee will, by a good and sufficient deed executed and acknowledged according to law, convey the same to the purchaser or purchasers, in fee simple, free, clear and discharged from all claim, right, title and interest, both in law and in equity, of the said Wm. Taylor's heirs.

Public Sale.

ON the 9th DAY of JULY next, at 12 o'clock of that day, by virtue of a deed of trust, we will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the premises, that very valuable tract of land in Fairfax county, near Holmes's Run, and about four miles from Alexandria, generally known by the name of containing about 115 acres. This land is about one half in wood—the balance cleared, and in cultivation, with convenient buildings on it, and excellent water near them. A considerable proportion of the open land is fertile, and well calculated for timothy meadows.

The sum of $2,254 77 cts will be required to be paid in cash; for the residue a credit of twelve months will be given from the day of sale, the purchaser paying interest thereon, and giving satisfactory security for the punctual payment thereof. A conveyance will be made when the purchase money and interest is all paid up. If the terms of the sale should not be complied with by the purchaser, the premises will be immediately re-sold to the highest bidder, at the risque of the person to whom it shall have been struck off; and the same course will be repeated until an effectual sale shall have taken place.

Most Valuable Landed Property for Sale.

BEING anxious to move to the south-western country, I am disposed to sell that most valuable and well known farm in Charles county, Maryland, called The Meadows, and a part of Westwood Manor—This tract contains 930 acres, is most eligibly situated, lying in the fork of the two branches of the Wicomico river. As to fertility of soil, and advantages of every description, it is equalled but by few—surpassed by none.

Also, the farm on which I reside, called Somerset, in the County of King George, Virginia. This tract contains 676 acres, by late survey, and is also well situated, lying on the Potomac river, (opposite col. J. Taylor's Maryland Poin testate) and bounded by the same upwards of a mile, is in a progressive state of improvement under the clover and plaster system, which has succeeded beyond my most sanguine expectations.

Also, two other small tracts in Westmoreland county, Va. containing 325 acres.

Also, 1140 acres of military land, in the state of Ohio.

As it is presumed that no person will (and as it is my desire that no one should) purchase without viewing the premises, I will not give a minute description of these tracts. Indisputable title will be made in every instance. Persons wishing to purchase, will please make application personally, or by letter addressed, to the subscriber, near Hampstead post office, Va.

Mansion for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole; it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary out-house, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the

Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS { Rev. Wm Hawley, Washington.
Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria.
Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria.
Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26
